

The Gazebo at the Farmer's Market, Heritage Park, Port Royal
 Saturday Classes begin at 12:00 noon and are free... just bring a folding chair

Date	Program	Speaker	Description
April 29	Recovering from H. Matthew	J. Weidner	Don't be too hasty to replace those shade lovers. There might be alternatives.
May 6	Winning Turf Wars	Bill Camp	Shortcuts, tips and weapons to help you have the lawn you've always wanted.
May 13	Forever Green - Ferns	Kathleen Grewenig	Learn which of these garden workhorses stay green all year!
May 20	Tomato Grafting	Sandra Educate	Together, we're going to learn this technique for more vigorous, productive plants. Heirloom flavor on hybrid stock.
May 27	Divide and Conquer	Alice Massey	Everyone loves free plants. You'd be surprised at what plants are easily divided.
June 3	Tillandsias	Victoria Bergesen	These epiphytes are taking the gardening world by storm. Beautiful and easy care, and there will be some to share.
June 10	Those Pesky Pests and What to do about Them	Laura Lee Rose	Have you been invaded by chewers, suckers, stingers and other unsavory characters? Laura Lee has answers.
June 17	Urban Foraging	Pete Godbey	Stalking the Wild Asparagus, and other edibles.
June 24	Salvias, Let me Count the Ways	Victoria Bergesen	Stalwarts of the garden. You find some in bloom spring through fall, and even in mild winters. Don't be without them.
July 1	Drip Irrigation	Joe Allard	Hands down, the best class for saving money in your garden. And yes, you can do it.
July 8	Fall Gardening	Laura Lee Rose	It's not too soon to plan for your fall vegetable garden. August will be here before you know it!. As usual, there will be seeds to share.
July 15	Rain Gardens	Joe Allard	A great solution for stormwater runoff, a huge pollution source..
July 22	Lush and Beautiful Containers	Carol Guedalia	Thriller, Spiller and Filler rule? There's more to a successful container garden than that!
July 29	Some Like it Hot!	Jay Weidner	There is usually little color in the hot, muggy mid-summer months, but some really do like it hot!
August 5	A is for Azaleas	Lora Quincy	Learn about the care and feeding of these underappreciated southern staples. Make them beautiful again.
August 12	Camellias 101	George Cannon	Our own camellia guru has been growing and breeding these southern heritage shrubs for decades. No other plant gives more bang for the buck. Three seasons of bloom.
August 18	Gardening is for the Birds!	Buddy and Mary Campbell	Let these 'birders' show you how to bring more winged dancers into your garden. Birds are more than beauty and entertainment.
August 26	Keeping it Growing	Amanda McNulty	Our signature end of season class. Put on your funny hats and come!

These epiphytes are taking the gardening world by storm. Beautiful and easy care, and there will be some to share

Let these 'birders' show you how to bring more winged dancers into your garden. Birds are more than beauty and entertainment!.